At Scrunch I worked with a small team to build their data-driven influencer marketing platform from the ground up. My role oversaw end-to-end feature development from concept to deployment, as well as helping to develop a roadmap of the product direction.

My responsibilities included: user interface & user experience design, responsive web design, front-end development, prototyping, animation & motion design, user testing & analytics, QA/testing, agile development, CSS/Sass, HTML, Git, program management, branding & graphic design.
